

LINNEHAN'S USA COMPUTER SYSTEMS SELECTS CARLETON TO PROVIDE LOAN ORIGATION AND DOCUMENT DELIVERY SOFTWARE FOR THEIR AUTO DEALERS AND LENDERS

South Bend, IN, 6/6/05 — Linnehan's USA Computer Systems announced today that it has contracted with Carleton, Inc. to incorporate Carleton's industry leading SmartCalcs loan origination software as part of USA Computer Systems flagship product, "The ANSWER". Carleton will also provide document delivery software and forms support for USA Computer Systems.

USA Computer Systems' dealer management software enables dealerships and finance companies to successfully operate their companies from the beginning of the sales process all the way through and including all Accounting functions. Carleton's software will ensure that all loan computations are accurate and in compliance with all federal and state regulations, as well as being consistent with the institutional requirements of each utilized lender. Carleton software will also be used to electronically deliver and print all appropriate documents in both laser printing and impact printing formats, as part of the loan closing/sales delivery process.

"Linnehan's USA Computer Systems is extremely honored and pleased to partner with Carleton in order to leverage their unique expertise. Having Carleton on board means that our dealers and lenders will have the security of knowing that their loan calculations are accurate and in compliance. In reviewing our alternatives it became obvious that Carleton is uniquely qualified to support our nation-wide compliance and document delivery needs," said John Linnehan, Founder and CEO of USA Computer Systems.

"For years Carleton has provided our products and services to the indirect auto lending industry. Our relationship with USA Computer will only enhance our presence in auto lending marketplace," said Pat Ruskowski, President of Carleton. "Our consumer loan computation and document delivery expertise coupled with USA Computer's accounting and dealer management expertise provides an exciting new solution for auto dealers nationwide."
